Mr Campos has extensive experience in dispute resolution and mediation, having successfully represented clients in a wide range of civil, corporate, commercial, investment and construction disputes before the Singapore Court of Appeal, High Court and in arbitration proceedings.

Mr Campos advises on a range of construction and infrastructure projects in Singapore, from transactional construction documentation to downstream dispute resolution. He has represented owners, main-contractors, and subcontractors in a range of building & construction disputes as well as in adjudication proceedings under the Security of Payment Act. More recently, he has advised on Public Private Partnership (PPP) projects in Indonesia. His vast experience in the practice is backed by being a CFA charterholder and an Accredited Specialist in Building and Construction Law under the auspices of the Singapore Academy of Law.

His main areas of practice for corporate and commercial matters include Company and Partnerships, International Commercial Transactions, Employment and Labour, Private Equity/Investment Disputes, Professional Negligence, and Trust and Estates. He was selected as a leading lawyer by Who's Who Legal in the Management, Labour and Employment category in 2008. He has been a member of the Appeal Board of the Commission for Foreign Manpower since 2013 and his latest term of appointment will expire in 2024. He has also been a Fellow of the Singapore Institute of Arbitrators since 2006.

Legal 500 (2020, 2021) describes him as “recommended for construction disputes” while, his clients describe him as “accessible, effective and strategic, with solid industry knowledge” and as having “strategic thinking” and “high standards of services”.
