Dispute Resolution
Private Client Advisory

Biography

Melissa has experience across a broad range of civil and commercial matters, advising individuals, companies and societies on both contentious and non-contentious matters in the following areas: defamation, company law, directors' and shareholders' disputes, partnership, debt recovery, insolvency, employment, personal injuries, probate and administration, and a myriad of other civil and commercial matters.

With a background that spans community law through to commercial litigation, she understands the personal and commercial impact legal issues can have. Melissa is therefore committed to delivering quality service and effective legal representation to help guide clients through challenging situations.

Melissa has successfully led and assisted in mediations and settlements at all stages of a dispute, both before and after legal proceedings have commenced. Where an amicable resolution is not possible, she represents clients through the litigation process both at the Supreme and State Courts level. Melissa is focused on providing practical solutions aimed at achieving outcomes that align with her clients' goals in a cost-effective manner.
